

MEETING AT COOPER UNION. FAMOUS HALL UNABLE TO HOLD ALL THE COLONEL'S ADMIRERS.

A MOST ENTHUSIASTIC GREETING—EX JUDGE HOWLAND, CONGRESSMAN PRINCE AND CONGRESSMAN MITCHELL AMONG THE SPEAKERS.

Colonel Theodore Roosevelt began his remarkable campaign on the East Side last night by addressing a mass-meeting in Cooper Union. It is probable that at none of the numerous open-air and indoor gatherings which he addressed was the enthusiasm which his presence inspired more spontaneous and more pronounced than in the famous old meeting-place in the basement of Cooper Union.

Half an hour before the advertised time for the opening of the meeting every seat in the place was occupied, and people had already begun to fill the standing-room in the rear. Fifteen minutes later it was impossible to find a spare inch of space anywhere in the hall, and it was with difficulty that the police were able to keep the main aisles clear.

It was not many minutes after 8 o'clock when Colonel Roosevelt entered the hall. In a second the audience was on its feet, shouting and cheering with thunderous force. Ex-Judge Henry E. Howland was the presiding officer of the meeting, and in order formally to introduce Colonel Roosevelt he endeavored to obtain a hearing. But the crowd cried "Teddy! Teddy!" with a persistence that was equalled only by the noise. As it was impossible for Colonel Roosevelt to come forward. Then, with one more hearty cheer, the audience subsided into silence. Colonel Roosevelt's address was as follows:

This is the third meeting I have attended at Cooper Union, and, upon my word, I think the enthusiasm grows with the meetings. And again that to-night there are with us here those whom I look upon as the best of men. I ask your support not for myself, but for the man who has been elected Governor of this State, and who has been elected President of the United States.

It is at the end of my campaign and my voice is no longer heard. I don't mind a long 300-mile journey, but I don't mind a long 300-mile journey. I don't mind a long 300-mile journey. I don't mind a long 300-mile journey.

moments. It was impossible to imagine, he said, that the people of New-York would subscribe to the expansion of the dominion of Tammany. Making predictions from his tour twice through the State by Colonel Roosevelt and the campaign in the city, he remarked: "Colonel Roosevelt next Tuesday, just as he drove the Spanish infantry up and over the crest of San Juan Hill, will surely drive from their position in this State the enemies of good government and honest money."

THEN CAME MR. PRINCE. Congressman George W. Prince, of Illinois, who was a member of the sub-committee with John Murray Mitchell which drew up the Currency bill, spoke on behalf of the candidature of Mr. Mitchell. He first paid a tribute to the loyalty of New-York State in the time of the Civil War and in the light of the war which was honest money. For some time Mr. Prince talked upon the silver question, which, he said, was not dead, inasmuch as the Chicago platform had been indorsed by more than half the Democratic State conventions in the country. He ended by speaking in the highest terms of the courage, ability and sincerity of Mr. Mitchell in his work at Washington.

CHEERS FOR MR. MITCHELL. John Murray Mitchell, who was received with prolonged cheering, made a short address, in the course of which he asked the voters of the city to reject the puppet candidate of a boss, and promised that he would serve his constituents to the best of his ability, and would do his best to give the working man an honest dollar and save the United States from the stain of repression.

ON THE LOWER WEST SIDE.

ONE OF THE MOST ENTHUSIASTIC GATHERINGS of the night assembled at Cobb's Academy, Hudson and Bank sts. This hall is in the heart of the Fifth Assembly District, which generally gives overwhelming Democratic majorities, but there was no inkling of these things there last night. About nine o'clock the hall was packed with a crowd long before the time set for the meeting, and the profusion of Japanese lanterns hung from the neighboring houses, the fireworks and the throngs of workmen in their shirt-sleeves, who had some there to shout for Theodore Roosevelt, made a scene not soon to be forgotten.

It is at the end of my campaign and my voice is no longer heard. I don't mind a long 300-mile journey, but I don't mind a long 300-mile journey. I don't mind a long 300-mile journey. I don't mind a long 300-mile journey.

CURIOUS NOMINATION. From The Albany Evening Journal. It appears that the Supreme Court by the Democratic vote of the 11th Judicial District, never had a law office in the city of Albany.
