

Sketch map of the unknown river christened Rio Roosevelt, and subsequently Rio Teodoro, by direction of the Brazilian Government

This map was prepared by Colonel Roosevelt from his journal and the diaries of Cherrie and of Kermi Roosevelt, the war having prevented the arrival of the map prepared by Lieutenant Lyra. The Ananás may be the headwaters of the Cardozo or of the Aripuanã, or it may flow into the Canama or Tapajos; it will not be put on the map until it is actually descended.
